

Consent to Participate in Research Project:

Title of Project: Exploring Māori Legal Traditions

Researcher: Carwyn Jones

I have been given and have understood an explanation of this research project. I have had an opportunity to ask questions and have them answered to my satisfaction.

I understand that after I sign and return this consent form it will be retained by the researcher.

I understand that I may stop participating in this research at any time, though because the information is offered in a group situation it may not be possible to withdraw information that I have already given.

I understand that the workshops will be video-recorded, that only the researcher and research assistant will have access to the recording, that recordings will be wiped at the conclusion of the research, and that any transcripts from them will be destroyed at the conclusion of the project.

I understand that notes based on discussion at the workshops will form the basis of conference papers and written publications. I also understand that information from the workshops may also be used as a basis for developing further research projects and applying for funding for such projects. I acknowledge that the gathered information will not be used for any other purpose without my informed consent.

I understand that I will receive a summary of the workshop discussions and research findings at the conclusion of this project.

Should any confidential information arise in any of the workshops, I agree to keep such information confidential.

I agree to take part in this research project.

I give permission to share my identity and for my comments to be attributed to me.
